

I am a dedicated computer science student with hands-on experience in database systems through a bakery management project and Object-Oriented Programming skills demonstrated in a university administration system project. Active participation in coding competitions showcases my problem-solving abilities, and a recent Java programming internship further enhanced my practical skills. In a data warehousing project, I successfully designed and implemented a data warehouse using an ETL pipeline. Utilizing Power BI, I extracted insights from the warehouse using measures and KPIs. This project highlighted my proficiency in handling large datasets and deriving meaningful business intelligence. Additionally, I developed a complete Node.js and Express-based web application, further demonstrating my full-stack web development capabilities.
